Ten Top Stories of 1972

In accordance with its annual custom, the Greenbelt News Review has selected the ten top Greenbelt stories of 1972. This year the following were chosen, listed in the approximate order of their occurrence.

—Dominating the news at the beginning and end of the year, the 1,193-unit Greenbriar apartment complex scheduled for the 82-acre Smith-Ewing tract east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway takes another step toward reality by getting county council incorporation of an approved point of discharge in the County 10-Year Water and Sewer Plan for an on-site temporary package sewer treatment plant. At year's end, treatment plant awaits final approval — from the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene which must pass on the quality of the effluent.

—Embankment problem at Beltway Plaza is near solution after nearly a decade of wrangling, as circuit court fines developer for polluting Indian Creek with sediment eroding from slope on the east side of S. Klein and orders corrective work be undertaken in accordance with instructions by the State Water Resources Administration.

—Greenbelt Homes, Inc. girds for its third decade of existence by employing two outside consulting firms to make structural and management surveys of future GHI needs. The structural survey conducted by The Architectural Affiliation stressed the need for weatherproofing the walls, heavying up the electric service, and replacing deteriorating exterior sidings and suggested shifting from oil to electrical heating. The management survey conducted by Cresap, McCormick, and Paget saw the major need to bolster middle management and thus recommended the employment of additional professional personnel.

—Greenbelt turns down proposals to add to its recreational plant an indoor swimming pool and indoor tennis facility. In the case of the former, the electorate expresses is opposition through an October 3 referendum by a 747 to 484 vote. In the case of the latter, the city council is the executioner, fearing the precedent set by constructing a privately-operated tennis court on land presently zoned residential.

—Having no surplus funds to fall back on, the city council is forced to raise the city real estate tax rate from 84c to 92c per $100 assessed valuation for the fiscal year 1972-73. The budget pressure, however, is expected to ease as the result of Federal revenue-sharing funds of $92,000 received for the first year. Taxpayers can also expect a break from the new county law which will give county tax credit for services that are being provided by municipalities.

—A battle of petitions arises over a proposal by some GHI members for a comprehensive audit of fiscal affairs for the last decade. Those in favor argue that the financial status of the corporation is precarious, while those against cite the wasted expense of another audit to get information is already available. The board of directors sides in favor of the latter.

—The proposal of the Greenbriar developer, Alan Kay, to use open pit burning, also known as air curtain destructor, to clear the Greenbriar site of debris and trees, arouses the ire of environmentalists who prefer chipping or landfill operations. At year's end an amendment to the city's strict anti-burning ordinance to permit such controlled burning was pending.

—After modifying many of the recommendations of the City Election Advisory Committee regarding city election procedures, the council agrees to approve the establishment of a Board of Election Supervisors to take over many of the registration and election duties formerly performed by the city clerk.

—The desire of Springhill Lake residents for ballfields and community recreation building is closer to realization as the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs approves open-space grant for city purchase of 10.2 acres of land now used for a golf course. Negotiations with Springhill Lake owners center on a $86,700 selling price with Federal and State grants providing three-fourths of the cost, the city the rest. In the meantime, city also benefits from Federal dedication of 14 acres surplus property in the northeast part of town adjacent to the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, for use as woodland park and recreation area.

—A Federal court ruling requiring massive busing to eliminate the last vestiges of a segregated public school system in Prince Georges county has wide effects in Greenbelt as some 417 Greenbelt students attending Greenbelt Junior High School are scheduled to go to Mary Bethune Junior High School in Chapel Oaks. Also affected are Greenbelt elementary schools: Pupils from Charles-towne Village and University Square now attending Center School are slated to go to John Carroll elementary in Landover as are Boxwood Village and Lakeside North children from North End; some Springhill Lake pupils are to go to Oakcrest in Landover. Senior High students will remain at Parkdale.

SOCCE Drops

Greenbriar Suit

The Greenbelt Save Our Community Committee has withdrawn from its appeal against the Greenbriar special exception case.

The withdrawal was necessary because the organization was unable to raise sufficient funds for the legal and printing expenses involved in the case.

Thomas X. White, SOCC Chairman, regretted the action which ends a legal fight against the proposed apartment complex that had begun back in July, 1971, when the first hearing on the zoning decision was held.

White says SOCC will continue its opposition to the project and concentrate its efforts to get the proposed sewage treatment plant for the development disapproved by the Md. State Department of Health.

Withdrawal from the appeal will also give SOCC time to focus citizen attention on several transportation proposals that will be affecting Greenbelt in the near future. These include the widening of the B-W Parkway, closing the Parkway-Greenbelt Rd. interchange, widening of Kenilworth Avenue, and others.

GHI Bd. Settles Insurance, Receives Surprise Petition

by Miriam Cornelius

The board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., held a relatively brief meeting December 28, chiefly for the purpose of acting on insurance bids and authorizing 1973 expenditures.

Insurance Bids

Up for second reading were bids on three categories of insurance for 1973. Management recommended the following carriers: (1) Automobile—M. W. Griffith Agency (State Auto Mutual Insurance Company of Columbus); (2) Workmen's Compensation—Employers Insurance of Wausau; (3) D.D.D. (Dis-honesty, Disappearance, Destruction), 3 years — Employers Insurance of Wausau. Director Norman Weyel, seconded by Director Volk, moved to accept the bids for second reading and passage.

Thomas McAndrew, a GHI member whose agency was hired as the 1972 carrier of workman's compensation, asked for the floor and urged that GHI stay with his agency.

Kaufman Orders Schools Desegregated January 29

On December 29 U.S. District Court Judge Frank A. Kaufman ordered the Prince Georges County school board to make plans to transfer 32,000 pupils on January 29 to achieve desegregation in the county schools.

The plan accepted by Judge Kaufman is one drafted by county school staff after consultations with Kaufman and presented to him on December 26, despite having been rejected by the county school board. Under this plan most student transfers will be by means of busing. Since busing has been used extensively in Prince Georges County as a means of transporting students to school, only an increase from 48.5 to 56.1% will be necessary. Efforts have been made to limit any increase in distance and traveling time by dividing the county into sectors for elementary schools and making transfers only within each sector. Greenbelt has one school in sector C, Springhill Lake, and two in sector D, Center and North End.

Elementary pupils attending North End from Boxwood Village and Lakeside North will be shifted to John Carroll Elementary School, Nalley Terrace, Landover as will Center school pupils from Charles-towne Village and University Square. There will also be an exchange of about 175 pupils between Springhill Lake and Oakcrest Elementary school, Hill Rd., Landover. John Carroll will begin at 9:30 a.m. and close at 3 p.m. while Oakcrest will start at 9 a.m. and close at 3:15 p.m.

Greenbelt's junior high students (excluding Springhill Lake) will travel to Mary Bethune Junior High, Addison Rd., Chapel Oaks. They will begin classes at 8:30 a.m. and finish at 3 p.m.

Senior high students from Greenbelt will remain at Parkdale but will have their opening time moved back to 8:30 a.m. and closing time to 3 p.m.

According to a school board staff member, it appears that the school board will appeal Judge Kaufman's decision to the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va. on January 27. At the same time they will ask for a stay of implementation of the desegregation plan until September. Until such time as there is a decision on reversal of Judge Kaufman's decision or a stay imposed by a higher court, implementation will be carried out.

Efforts to smooth the busing transition have given rise to several groups throughout the county. In Greenbelt a group of parents has met to consider ways to help ease the transition. For information concerning this group, interested people can call: Reverend Robert Fields, 474-3120, Mrs. Joanne Mudlark, 345-3772, Mrs. Eileen Peterson, 345-2454, Bertram Donn, 474-1353.

Parents desiring more information from the schools can now call 627-6100. Volunteers will be on hand to answer questions concerning the new plans for integration.

cy. Although his bid was not the lowest, he argued that his agency should be given a chance to recover losses sustained in 1972, when several claims were paid. Director Tony Lynch, in a sharp exchange with board members, said that if the board was going to insist on changing carriers every year it should be consistent and take the lowest bid; he then moved to amend the motion by giving workmen's compensation to the M.W. Griffith Agency, a low bidder. (The manager had recommended Wausau because the company was familiar with GHI conditions and GHI had had favorable experience with the company.) This amendment, seconded by director Janet James, failed. The management proposal was then put to a vote, and carried, with directors Lynch and Brooks dissenting.

Special Meeting Petitioned

Mrs. Cathy Foster, a visiting GHI member, presented a petition signed by 70 GHI members, calling for a special membership meeting to discuss the 1973 budget and the increase in monthly charges. The petition's statement reads:

"Inasmuch as G.H.I. members are supporting a payroll of over half a million dollars and the G.H.I. board feels the corporation is in a position to loan as much as $50,000 cash to Twin Pines before the end of 1972, we, the undersigned members of G.H.I. hereby request a membership meeting to discuss the 1973 budget and determine whether a raise in monthly charges for 1973 is justified."

Matters proposed for discussion in such a meeting are:

1. Legality of the loan to Twin Pines;
2. Review of membership's policy of deferral of monthly charges to the elderly and disposition of funds collected;
3. Maintenance and trim paint program;
4. Disposition of management survey (CMP report);
5. Disposition of structural survey (TAA report);
6. Justification of 1973 increase in monthly charges to members.

The board voted to receive the petition and immediately seek from counsel a legal opinion to determine whether the petition satisfies the provisions of the by-laws.

Authorization for 1973 Expenditure

Presented for first reading was management's request for 1973 expenditure authorization. Treasurer Tom White suggested that an item of $6,908 for amortization payments on four homes should be carried as a transfer of funds rather than as an expenditure. This adjustment was accepted. A motion was then made by White and seconded by Director James to approve 1973 expenditures for first reading in the amount of $2,544,330. The motion carried, with Directors Brooks and Lynch opposing.

Corrections Made

On Apt. Violations

All corrections have been made to the apartments numbered 42-54 on Crescent Rd. The county's Housing Division, Dept. of Licenses and Inspections, had suspended the management of the units, Harvey Marcus Real Estate, Inc., for failure to comply with numerous regulations. But according to department head, Harry Diehl, the county inspected the apartments on December 20, and except for a few items, everything was corrected to their satisfaction. However, Diehl noted, "It's the kind of building we'll have to go back to." The realtor's license was reissued.

Further Facts on Sludge
To the Editor:

Having attended a meeting at the Agriculture Research Station on Tues., Dec. 19, to learn the facts about the proposed transfer of sludge from Blue Plains to a site on the Beltsville farm, I was dismayed to read your reporter's article on the same subject in last week's News Review.

There were several inaccuracies and omissions in the article which should be clarified in the interest of adequately informing Greenbelters.

1. You stated 140 dry tons to be transported per day from Blue Plains. The actual tonnage should be stated in wet tons which will amount to 700 wet tons to be carried by the cement trucks.

2. Each cement truck has a capacity of 10 wet tons which would require 70 trips per day when the project is going full scale.

3. Your article very precisely gave the route the cement trucks would take to the composting site but failed to inform your readers the route that the empty (?) trucks would take back. Your readers might be interested that the trucks will leave the composting site on Powder Mill Rd., proceed westerly to Edmonston Rd., turn left and proceed down Edmonston to Kenilworth Ave. to gain access to the Beltway. Maybe they should call it the Perimeter Route.

4. No estimate was given, but a significant amount of trucks will also be involved in the transporting of bulk material such as vermiculite, sawdust, or shredded paper, which will be required for mixing with the sludge.

5. For a six months project a concrete pad or other such stabilized structure will be constructed which will measure initially 160 ft. by 400 ft. and ultimately 300x600 ft. Quite a pad!!

Undoubtedly, there are other facts about this project which are still clouded. My purpose in writing is to inform. I am not opposed to the project. If successful, it will be by far the most intelligent way to handle sewage sludge. Additionally, the project is being supervised by scientists from the Beltsville ARC whom I think merit our confidence.

It is, however, an experiment, and as such is subject to failure. The project should be scrutinized very carefully to protect Greenbelt and other nearby residential areas from potential pollution by run-off from the compost area, damage to nearby secondary roads by heavy truck traffic, undue air pollution from heavy truck traffic, dismantling of the experimental site when the six-month experiment is completed.

ST. HUGH'S SPONSORS
RELIGION CLASSES

Beginning Thursday, January 11, at 8 p.m. St. Hugh's Church is sponsoring a series of thirteen classes on The Teachings of the Catholic Faith. Classes will meet in the Rectory Meeting Room at 135 Crescent Road.

The series is designed for Catholics who desire a refresher course in the teachings of their church and for nonCatholics who are interested in the beliefs of Catholics. While not necessary, previous registration is desirable and further information may be obtained by calling Msgr. Boland at 474-4322.

Thank You

To the Editor:

The Springhill Lake Fire Emergency Fund would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who responded so unselfishly to the tragic fire at Springhill Lake Apartments. To those who worked long and arduous hours carrying clothing and bedding graciously donated by many people, to those who helped sorting the many articles of clothing, to those who helped take care of the children of the victims, and to those who contributed money so generously and gratuitously, to all of you, with a certain measure of deep affection and with a sense of gratitude that we of the SHL FEF say, in all humbleness, thank you.

"Shocking Language"

To The Editor:

Having experienced military service I am not unduly prissy. Yet I was shocked to hear GHI Board member Tony Lynch use 4-letter words more than once during the 28 Dec. board meeting, the chairman even having to request him to "watch your language".

A public meeting is inappropriate for such cussing. The use of it insulted other board members, staff, and visitors by assuming they wished to converse in and habitually use such a vocabulary. Even more it insults and shows a basic contempt for GHI and its members by implying that board meetings are only dignified enough for barnyard language.

City Manager Suggests
Using Federal Funds
For Recreation Expenses

City manager James K. Giese has recommended to city council that Federal revenue-sharing funds be used to finance city recreation expenditures. The city has already received its first payment of $45,483 and can expect a second payment of equal amount in January to cover the second half of 1972. Thereafter, the city will receive quarterly payments of approximately $22,700.

Giese listed several reasons why he selected recreation as the area for expending revenue-sharing moneys.

First, he noted that Federal legislation has a restriction against using revenue-sharing funds as the city's match for Federal grants. There are no Federal grant programs available for recreation.

Second, he noted that Federal legislation has a restriction that contractors employed and paid out of revenue sharing funds must pay prevailing wages and the city must show compliance with this requirement. There are no contractual construction expenses in recreation for which it would be necessary to account for prevailing wages.

Third, he noted that recreation cannot be considered for the county property tax rebate, and thus there is no risk that utilizing revenue-sharing moneys will reduce the county tax credit to city residents.

Finally, he noted that the current budget for recreation is close to the annual amount of revenue-sharing funds which the city will receive.

By charging recreation expenses to revenue-sharing, general revenue funds will be released which, Giese said, could then be used to undertake capital expenditures, establish new city programs, or reduce taxes. Giese cautioned, however, that at present there is no certainty that revenue sharing moneys will extend beyond five years. Therefore, if the added resources are used to fund new continuing programs there is a risk that the funds for these programs may be lost in five years.

Similarly, if utilized to reduce taxes, there is a risk of a future tax increase being necessary. Because capital expenditures are one-time items, Giese saw an advantage in using the added resources for this purpose.

Gullet Signs New Tax Rebate Bill

Presented with administrative language he preferred, County Executive William W. Gullett signed a refined version of the municipal tax rebate bill Dec. 14, nearly six weeks after he vetoed the first draft.

At the same time, Gullett established by executive order a seven-member tax credit task force to set county standards municipalities must meet to get their tax credits and outline procedures for filing. Greenbelt Mayor Richard Pilski was one of those named to the task force.

The bill returns to municipalities tax dollars paid to Prince Georges for services the county provides only in unincorporated districts.

Until now, municipal residents have been paying city taxes for such services as fire and police protection while also paying the county for services it didn't provide.

Authored by Vice Chairman Francis W. White, who pushed the bill to passage after its veto, the signed measure credits municipalities for police and fire services, street maintenance and street lighting.

Chief Administrative Officer Robert A. Edwards will chair the tax credit task force. Council members Lucille B. Potts and Royal Hart will represent the legislative arms of county government.

According to estimates submitted during Council consideration of the measure, the bill will cost the county $200,000 this year because only Laurel's police department is up to the standards required for rebate.

Budget Director LaMar A. Dotter estimated the second year's costs could leap to $4.5 million, including $800,000 in revenue sharing destined for municipalities and $500,000 in "miscellaneous income."

Heart Assn. Plans Free Heart Clinic

The Heart Association is planning to conduct a free Heart Disease Risk Factor Screening Clinic in Greenbelt on February 5-14, at the Ridge Road Recreational Center. Appointments will be taken later in the month.

Tests will include Medical History, Height-Weight Ratio, Blood Pressure, Screening Electrocardiogram, and Blood Cholesterol and Triglyceride Analysis. Referrals will be made to the private physician, if any of the tests are considered outside of normal limits.

Volunteers are needed for the planning and implementation of this project. Civic groups are being asked to solicit membership for volunteers and, if possible, establish a committee to help provide the people needed for the program.

CITY NOTES

The Stidham house, a boarded-up ramshackle building near Edmonston and Kenilworth Rds., was removed by the owner.

The Public Works dept. removed leaves and cleaned debris around street signs. The Special Details crew was involved in refuse collection because some regular refuse workers were off for the holidays.

The city paid for and installed six court parent signs at all entrances to the city.

Oil was trapped at the stream bed near Braden Field; the culprit has not been trapped yet, however.

The Police Blotter

As a result of six reported drug overdoses which took place at Greenbelt Junior High, an investigation was conducted in order to determine where the drugs (librium) came from. As a result of investigation PFC Vogel apprehended a 15-year-old male juvenile, who also was suspected to be under the influence of this drug. The juvenile was charged with possession and distribution of a dangerous substance. He is further suspected of participating in numerous breaking and enterings in the Berwyn Heights area; a great deal of stolen property was recovered and then turned over to Prince Georges County police.

A young lady reported that as she was returning to her Springhill Lake apartment she was grabbed from the rear, thrown down and her clothing torn by an unknown assailant. During this same period an indecent exposure also took place involving another lady. The area was checked with negative results. Look outs were issued.

The department is also investigating four break-ins which took place during the week. Three of the break-ins were at Springhill Lake apartments, and on Woodland Way. Items such as phonograph records, radios, TV, Christmas gifts and some cash were taken.

Officer Stair recovered a stolen car occupied by three juveniles. The car was stolen in Baltimore; the juveniles were all run-aways enroute to Florida. They are also accused of siphoning gas from a parked vehicle and cutting an air hose at the Arco gas station. Juvenile Court action is pending.

The department held its Annual School Safety Patrol Holiday Party on December 22, at the Greenbelt Theatre. Mayor Pilski, Chief Lane, along with Safety Patrol Officer Sgt. Van Valkenburgh thanked the patrols for their help in maintaining an excellent safety record. Refreshments, a gift to each patrol member and a movie were part of the festivities. In connection with this event the Chief would like to thank the Greenbelt Theatre, High's, Greenbelt Variety, and the Coca Cola Corp. for their cooperation.

Four subjects were recently arrested near Beltway Plaza; one subject was charged with shoplifting, and all four with being in possession of a stolen car, having concealed weapon, and possession of stolen property.

Detective Sergeant John C. Krob of the Greenbelt City Police Department was one of 36 graduates last month, of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs' (BN-DD) National Training Institute. The ceremonies concluded 10 weeks of intensive training in the latest techniques of drug law enforcement.
